

nicaragua la bendicion

white grape | blue raspberry | strawberry | cane sugar

if you had to pick just one word to describe luis alberto balladarez moncada, the best might be passionate. luis owns multiple farms in the north of nicaragua, and it's quite evident this passion extends to all of them. located in the dipilto-jalapa mountain range in nueva segovia, la bendicion sits on 252 acres, of which about 40% is planted with coffee. la bendicion specializes in variety specific coffees and multiple processes, growing caturra, red catuai, hybrids, villa sarchi, pacamara, maracaturra, h-3, marselleza, java, as well as sl-28, which comprises this particular lot. luis' devotion has netted him several honors, including 1st place at this year's nicaragua cup of excellence, 1st and 5th place at the 2018 competition, and 3rd and 13th place at the 2017 version. we very much look forward to his coffees in the coming years.

this particular coffee is grown at 1300 meters, and consists of 100% sl-28 variety. it is a full natural, with 30-35 days of covered, raised bed drying.
