

brasil rio brilhante aramosa

dried strawberry | watermelon | white chocolate | violet an incredibly rare and interesting coffee from our growing relationship with fazenda rio brilhante in brasil. our fourth year purchasing from the fazenda, but our first year bringing in this particular coffee. this light roast coffee presents us with a crossbreed of coffee we have never sourced before. aramosa is a cross between the coffea arabica and coffea racemosa species. because of racemosa's low levels of caffeine, aramosa finds itself in the middle and has lower levels of caffeine relative to most arabica species.

we're inclined to designate this coffee as 'half-caf'. no decaffeination methods were used after harvesting or processing, yet this coffee is purported to contain 30-60% of caffeine relative to our other coffees.

grown between 900-1150m and consisting of 100% aramosa crossbreed. like most coffees at fazenda rio brilhante, this coffee was processed as a full natural with patio drying.

coffee is allowing others to grow
